

Bubble diagram:

- We're always asking a question that divides one group of plants into two groups
- Questions should be based on things you can see
- Pretend you don't know any of the plants

