

Temperature

. Why does temperature matter?

1. High temperatures can damage organisms as energy is transferred (only a concern in areas with the potential for extremely high temps)
2. Organisms have optimized cellular functions for a particular temperature range
3. Increasing water temperature results in less oxygen available for organisms

Dec 6-11:25 AM