

Why did Native Americans burn the Willamette Valley yearly?

FOOD

- It made hunting easier
- It provided grasses & flowers for grazing animals
- It provided habitat for the plants they ate and used

Why did European-American settlers stop the yearly burning?

- Forests are more useful to European-American culture/economy
- European Americans built permanent settlements → NOT COMPATIBLE with widespread fire