

On unit tests, you can have one opportunity to do a retake

1. It will be a different test
2. I will average your scores
3. I will ask you to show me all previous assigned work & notes (and ask you to redo or complete if appropriate)

- If you want more points in the class, you can complete "proficiencies"
- This will be an individual contract (variable # of points)
- In a nutshell, you will design and carry out a physics lab
- You will get points for conclusively demonstrating mastery in an area of weakness
- I will ask you to show me all previous assigned work & notes (and ask you to redo or complete if appropriate)