

Speciation Story

Your job is to write a brief story of speciation. You may write it as a cartoon, a love story, poem or any other form of communication as long as it meets the following requirements.

Due Thursday at the end of the day.

Requirements

- You must tell me some back story, what organism are you writing about (they can be real or fake)
- What happens to separate the gene pool. Explain why it happened and is it Geographic isolation or Reduction of gene flow.
- How or why did the genes of the separated population change? Did the different resources on the island causes them to develop different mating behaviors, did they land in a puddle of radio active goo, did they only mate with their next door neighbors?
- What would or did happen when the two separated populations met back up?
- Make it interesting! Make it your own style!
